

CHECKLIST FOR SERVICE AND ASSISTANCE DOGS IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

The following checklist will ensure that your trip goes smoothly; have a good read before setting off:

Certificate and vaccination	To enter Great Britain (England, Wales and Scotland) with an assistance or guide dog: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- A pet passport if you are travelling from a “part 1” listed country (e.g. EU Countries see www.gov.uk for details), or if it was issued in Great Britain before 1 January 2021</li> <li>- An Animal Health Certificate (AHC) issued in Great Britain – valid up to 4 months after it was issued</li> <li>- A Great Britain pet health certificate, if you are travelling from a “Part 2” or “not listed” country, or a “Part 1” country that does not issue pet passports.</li> </ul> Pay attention: the requirement for travel to the EU is the use of a certificate, rather than a pet passport: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>- Always check that your pet or guide/assistance dog’s hold an Animal Health Certificate (AHC) issued no more than 10 days before travel</li> </ul>
Veterinary checks	Remember to arrange the mandatory tapeworm vaccination (to be given between 24 /120 hours before landing) Make sure your guide dog is in good health to cope with the trip
Certificates for assistance dog	When booking the flight, keep your guide dog’s or assistance dog’s certification card to hand, as issued by the association responsible for training
When booking the flight	When booking the flight, remember to inform that your guide or assistance dog will be traveling on the flight up two days before the date of the flight. Please contact the Animal Health Authority in UK at least 72 hours prior of your flight to UK  For London Heathrow  Phone 0044 (0) 2087457894 – 95  e-mail: harc@cityoflondon.gov.uk
Equipment	Ensure you have all the necessary equipment for your pet or assistance dog and its needs, such as a leash, water container and suitable food.
On arrival	Never disembark from the flight if the staff responsible for checking your dog’s documents are not with you, even if means having to wait on board.